An Inclusive Thought for your Seder Table

When G-d asked Moshe to speak to Pharaoh to free the Israelites, Moshe was reluctant, answering "I am slow of speech and of tongue".

But G-d didn't give up on Moshe. He knew that Moshe had enormous leadership potential.

He could overcome obstacles, and would understand the people's difficulties during their journey through the desert.

Moshe was the right person for the job.

We believe that every person is a Moshe.

It's our job, as a community, to ensure that every person has the opportunity to fulfil their maximum potential, and to create a society that is truly inclusive.

Matan's Story

Matan was born with Cerebral Palsy, which in his case means he doesn't speak, walk, or control his hands. At BIS's Special Education School, our staff patiently taught Matan to use the Eye Gaze System, a small camera programmed to let him move a computer mouse using only his eyes. This year, Matan began typing full words on a keyboard for the first time! We are so excited about the possibilities this opens for Matan!
